PAT DAINTY receives the NEWS OF THE WORLD "Girl of the Year" trophy from IVOR EYLES, chairman of the E.T.T'A.
E.T.T.A. GET TOUGH

The E.T.T.A. are taking a tough line with foreign countries in future over the question of reciprocal visits. Unless they are prepared to play ball by sending exchange players here for the English Open at Brighton for February 27 to March 2 we will boycott their championships.

This matter has come to a head over Sweden, and, unless there is a change of heart, the Scandinavian Championships in Boras are out as far as our official teams are concerned.

The Swedes would like us to send our top players, and they are particularly keen to have Ian Harrison, but they are prepared only to send two girls to the English Open. This is not considered good enough.

The Swedish girls pretty as they are, would not be a big attraction from a playing point of view.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

A fair exchange would obviously be Hans Alser, the European champion, and their new star junior Carl Johan Bernhardt.

Moreover, Alser, when he was here for the recent tour, said he would like to come over for the English Open but his association has so far said "No."

Incidentally, last month’s tour was in exchange for our players going to the Scandinavian last year, and nothing to do with the current season.

The E.T.T.A. cannot be blamed for taking this tough line for they have been let down in the past. There have been times when the draw has been made and blanks left for the names of overseas players to be inserted, because we have not known who was coming until the team actually arrived.

This is not going to happen again. If names are not known when the draw is made they will be left out.

There have been problems over the Hungarians coming for the English Open, but these appear to have been ironed out now and it has been tentatively agreed that our official team of Diane Rowe, Mary Shannon and Lesley Bell, who are going to the Yugoslavian Open in Skoplje from November 8 to 11, will travel on to the Hungarian Open in Budapest from November 15 to 18.

Overseas players are necessary to give an added boost to the English Open, which has generally been regarded as next in importance only to the World and European championships.

They are needed more than ever this time for a new innovation will be an international team event for team of two, played on Swaythling Cup lines.

This is planned as part of our preparation for the World Championships in Prague from April 5 to 14 and it is hoped that at least eight teams will take part, so that it can be run off in two groups.

However, the E.T.T.A. have to stick rigidly to the reciprocal arrangement for it all comes down to that sordid question of finance.

A RUSHED VISIT

West Germany are meeting England men at Guinness’s Park Royal on November 24.

This is to be a rush affair for the same day the Germans will fly off to the Scandinavian Open.

B.E.A. are co-operating in allowing the Germans to get to London Airport at the last minute, and it is hoped to arrange for a police escort to see they do not get delayed in the traffic.
THE SWEDISH TOUR

NEW CENTRES PAY OFF

Harrison beats Alser

by GEOFF HARRower

From many aspects, the six-match tour by the Swedish team was a great success. Certainly the policy of playing two matches where Internationals had never been held before paid off; and in all centres civic dignitaries were mustered to the matches, official receptions were held, and the friendly spirit between all the players was extremely heartying.

Against this was the fact that the playing conditions in most centres did little to enhance England's reputation in this respect. Norwich must be exempted from this criticism, and Malvern, who had all too little time to organise the match, made every possible effort to reduce the slippery floor conditions. The precision broom sweepers at the magnificent Winter Gardens reminded one very much of the Wembley pre-ice hockey march.

Even with table tennis in its present low state, it should not be necessary for top play.

did much to satisfy the spectators and probably ensure increased audiences for future tours.

Glossing over the handful of spectators at the two London matches, very satisfactory numbers attended the four in the provinces. Indeed,
Trowbridge was full to overflowing.
Although this was only 400, nevertheless the atmosphere with a tightly packed hall is better than a larger arena more than half empty.

The undoubted outstanding success of the tour was the 16-year-old Swedish junior Carl Johan Bernhardt.
Originally, the Swedes thought so lightly of us that they felt they could afford to send their Nos. 1 and 4 to win all the matches, and send their (approx.) No. 10, a 16-year-old international matches. Much time was spent in several centres vainly endeavouring to get a uniform 6 inch height. At Nottingham referee Geoff James's hair turned several shades greyer when he saw the net sent specially from London for the match.

Right from the very start he made an effective contribution; at Norwich
he had to go on the table against Ian
Harrison with his side one down.
Bengtsson had unexpectedly lost to Creamer at 15-21 in the third after leading 14-12, a shattering experience, which appeared to affect

Bengtsson the whole tour. Nothing daunted, Bernhardt beat Harrison in straight games. His play went from strength to strength, culminating in a magnificent display in the final match at Nottingham, when he saved his side by winning all his three matches.

Throughout the tour he played 14 matches, winning 10 of them. Of the other four, one was lost after the match had been decided—and then only at 19 in the third. Two of the others were lost at 19 in the third and 20 in the third. His only straight games defeat, at Malvern, was to Harrison, and even then he scored 19 and 20.

We shall hear a lot of this very tall boy who is never afraid to play his strokes. Let him get on the attack and it is odds on he will win the rally. Give him a high ball and he puts it away better than many world champions I have seen.

Conversely, Stellan Bengtsson was disappointing. We had heard so much of this 21-year-old, who was expected to challenge for a place in the top three in Sweden—yet he won but seven of his 16 matches. However, he twice beat Harrison when a loss would probably have meant losing both those matches. Again, he is a very tall player who might make the grade.

Hans Alser did not look like a European champion. He is, of course, a very tight player who gives little or nothing away, yet I felt that, even apart from his four losses to Ian Harrison, he had not yet hit his peak form.

CREAMER'S PROGRESS

Although we lost all six matches we, too, had items on the credit side. Towering head and shoulders above all others was the form displayed by David Creamer. It is quite impossible to describe the advance he has made to those who have not seen him play this season. Gone are those careless point losing strokes. He is fitter, faster, brainier and far, far more determined.

I seriously suggest that, notwithstanding anything else he does this season, David should be selected NOW for the Swyfting Cup, along with Harrison and Ingber.

Had he been available (and selected) for the final three matches, it is probable that we would have won two of them.

Ian Harrison continues to be an enigma. At times he is so good that you can see him challenging the very best, and at others so lackadaisical that he appears not to be really trying. I feel, however, that this tour has done him a lot of good. He was clearly shaken by losing three in five to Bernhardt, and it may well be that he will in future give of his best all the time. Nothing can take away the fact that he scored four wins out of six against the current European champion.

Jeff Ingber played very well. He is never likely to be a world champion, but he is a good solid player—rubber bat and all—who doesn't make me ashamed of my England shirt. Alser could not understand why Jeff was not in all the teams, and this was before he had played him, not after!

The space allotted by your editor is running out, which is perhaps just as well for one or two of the other England players. We all know that Alan Rhodes does not appear to best advantage at the beginning of the season; Brian Wright, a solid county man, has yet to learn that little extra something to enable him to bridge the gap; while I really felt sorry for Tony Piddock. No doubt, some selectors may have felt that his consistent play had earned an England badge, but it was embarrassing to see young Bernhardt practising his reverse backhand slice against Tony's service.

THE first tournament of the season, the East of England at Skegness, was a success as usual. Although without the really top players there were, however, sufficient good players there to make it a tournament of a high standard. The fact that this tournament is over at 5:30 p.m. on the Sunday makes it all the more popular, for players coming from a distance can return in good time for work the next morning.

The Essex Open, which also suffered a lack of class players, has at last found a venue that could be permanent. There were one or two complaints about the checked pattern on the floor but when one is concentrating on the game such things should not be noticed.

A very high entry for the North of England led to it running a little late, but it finished in good time in the end. One talking point here was the draw for the men's singles. Jeff Inger was top seed and Jack Clayton No. 2. Yet there did not seem to be many good players in Jeff's quarter, whereas in Clayton's section he had someone to worry him every round until he was defeated. Each time Inger has entered this tournament the draw has been similar to this year so they say “Luck of the draw, or what?” Following so many players mentioning “Absent Stars” in the first two tournaments of the season, I have heard very little from those concerned.

Most of the players involved agreed that they thought it was too early to start competitive play. Yet I did not hear of any players withdrawing from the Middlesex v Rest match at the beginning of August. A few others had legitimate reasons.

Harry Walker writes from Essex and says that he thinks players should be restricted to one County Closed. He further adds that this should also apply for League Closed championships. Players should decide where their allegiance lies.

On the question of competition for veterans, Walker points out they have two Veteran Divisions in the Inter-League Championships, while more and more leagues are now bringing this event into their closed championships, too.

FLO WRIGHT RETURNS

Back to the table comes Flo Wright. In 1953 she was the youngest player at 15 to represent Yorkshire. She played for the county 22 times and represented England juniors against Germany.

Absent five years following her marriage to Mr. John Rollings, and now mother of two boys, she is one of two notable recruits for Barnsley North End. The other is Pat Dainty, the 15-year-old Yorkshire junior from Doncaster.

This gives Barnsley the impressive inter-league line-up of Lillian Hamilton, Eileen Starkie, Wright and Dainty, and they will be hoping to take the women's shield to South Yorkshire for the first time since 1949.

Between them they make up a North End team which is the first all-women's side to play in Barnsley's First Division.

Chief inter-league opposition is expected to come from Huddersfield, Leeds, who will include Di Wright, the leading Cheshire player, now married to Eric Johnson, also of Cheshire fame.

Another newcomer to the Yorkshire scene this season will be a printed news sheet called “The Yorkshire Rosette.” Information from and subscriptions to Mrs. C. Cook, 132 Withthorpe Road, Barnsley.

Raymond Hinchliff, who caused a stir at Huddersfield by dropping into Division Five with Electric Sports while a Premier Division regular in 1958, has helped his team into Division Two. They will be without Mike Hancock, the Halifax junior, however, who is concentrating on studies. Richard Thraves joins Ray and Graham Walker.

Lockwood Rovers, last season's Division Two champions, have had to disband. Gordon Hinchliff and Bob Craithley have joined Y.M.C.A. and dynamic Colin Butler is taking a rest.

Hull and Bradford are both 12 teams up on last season and Harrogate have an increase of seven.

Paul Rook, playing in Division Six of the Bradford League for Y.M.C.A. “D”, had the remarkable experience of winning a set without the lose of a point. His opponent was a beginner filling in for the night but surely he felt entitled to at least one net or edge!

RHODES KEEPS TITLE

TABLE TENNIS activity started in Middlesex this season with the closed championships. The fact that Alan Rhodes was the only holder to retain his title, the men's singles, shows how right the opposition in the finals, the results of which were:

Women's Singles: M. Hicks bt D. Redfearn 12-21, 21-19, 21-18.
Women's Doubles: Hicks/L. Ogus bt P. Venues/S. Light 21-18, 21-19.
Girls' Singles: S. Light bt M. Hope 21-19, 21-18.

Entries for the School's Tournament are now coming in and with London included for the first time it promises to be bigger than ever.

In the Inter-League competition, there will be, this season, two second divisions instead of a second and third. Promotion will be possible for one team from each of the divisions.
ESSEX FOLLOW E.T.A. LEAD

ESSEX have once again produced the "Boy of the Year" in the News of the World tournament at Butlins. He is David Brown, of Barking, and for good measure, Keith Lawrence and Karenza Smith were among the runners-up.

Two years ago Essex took both major awards with Chester Barnes and Lesley Bell.

East London League chairman Zoltan Berzicz is the former champion. He devoted his whole time to table tennis and is coach to the Swedish team. His home is at Boras, about 50 miles from Gottenburg, and he plays at a sports club nearby.

At 22, Hans Asler, of Sweden, is the singles champion of Europe. Although he won the title in the absence of the Hungarians, who boycotted Berlin, any suggestions that it was a hollow victory are entirely unfair.

For Asler had already gained a previous victory over Hungary's Zoltan Berzicz, the former champion. Like many fine players, Asler is slightly below average height, but he has a good physique and, with his crew cut hair and close-fitting track suit, he looks what he is . . . every inch an athlete.

He has a well-balanced all-round game with no marked weakness. His concentration is very good and on defence, which he prefers, his anticipation is sometimes reminiscent of Bergmann. On both attack and defence his footwork is outstanding and he must be the fastest player in Europe.

His strokes are carefully made and he is rarely caught playing the ball off the wrong foot. After each backhand stroke he has a habit of loosen his grip on the bat.

Asler is very nearly the purists' idea of the perfect table tennis player. Certainly, as well as his beautiful stroke production, he is fit and fast, with the balance of a gymnast, concentration, anticipation and intelligence.

His one deficiency seems to be a great readiness to go into his shell and push and defend.

HANS ASLER

EUROPE'S No. 1

AT 22, Hans Asler, of Sweden, is the singles champion of Europe. Although he won the title in the absence of the Hungarians, who boycotted Berlin, any suggestions that it was a hollow victory are entirely unfair.

His one deficiency seems to be too great a readiness to go into his shell and push and defend.

Quite often he is forced to struggle grimly against much inferior opponents. Unfortunately this not only reduces his chance of building from his excellent attacking strokes the sort of combinative play which is necessary in world class, but it also makes him vulnerable against weaker players because he does not bring to bear his superior stroke play.

Asler has been playing in world class only two years and if he is to be for the highest honours this may well be his year of destiny.

EAGLE/GIRL TOURNAMENT

AN ENTRY OF 12,000

The popular Eagle and Girl tournaments, which have introduced so many youngsters to competitive table tennis, are continuing their good work again this season.

It is anticipated that the entries will top last season's 12,000, with its interest spreading over the whole of Great Britain.

The competitions are in two classes, under-15's and under-13's and in addition there is a top team award of a special match table.

Points towards the top team prize must be scored in Area finals.

Area finals will be held in Cardiff, Birmingham, London, Dublin, Glasgow and Leeds.

These will be followed by regional finals in the South (for area champions of the South, Midlands and Wales), and in the North (for North, Scotland and Ireland). Winners of these will then compete for the Grand Finals, to be held in London, mid-April.

Winning teams in both regions will receive tables, while there are cups for the individual regional champions.

THE NEW RANKING LISTS

Spectacular Jump for Creamer and Alma Taft

Ian Harrison, of Gloucestershire, and Diane Rowe, of Middlesex, maintain the No. 1 position in the new English Ranking List following the training session at Ultra Electronics on October 14.

The most spectacular improvement is that of David Creamer of Middlesex, who rockets from No. 11 last season to No. 3. He is separated from Harrison by Jeff Inger, of Lancashire, who was No. 3 in the previous list.

Alan Rhodes, last year’s No. 2, falls back to No. 4.

The 19-year-old Creamer, who is now touring Nigeria with Victor Barna, is at long last living up to the promise he showed as a junior, and has improved out of all knowledge. He won the season’s first two titles, made a successful international debut against Sweden and promises to be a serious challenger to Harrison before the season is over.

Creamer’s promotion has meant a drop for almost every other player, for the same faces appear, with the exception of Mike Symonds, of Lancashire, last year’s junior, who appears for the first time at No. 8.

The only newcomer to the women’s list is the Hertfordshire teenager, Alma Taft, of St. Albans. She makes a spectacular debut at No. 4.

Miss Taft, who is now living at Wembley, has made a big impression in the early tournaments, being runner-up in the East of England and Essex, and winning the North of England title.

The rivalry between Mary Shannon and Lesley Bell is keener than ever with the selectors failing to separate them. They have been ranked joint No. 2, a place Miss Shannon held on her own last time when Miss Bell was No. 3.

The South’s domination of the women’s ranking is emphasised by the fact that the only ranked players from outside this area are Diane Wright (Cheshire) at No. 8, Pam Mortimer (Warwickshire) No. 10, and Diana Fitzgerald (Lancashire) No. 11.

In Defense of Reverse Sandwich

Last month players were once again warned in this magazine that "the plain outer surface of 'reverse' (pimples inward) sandwich is often brightly reflecting" and that as this contravenes Law 4 it could not be allowed. I would like to dispute two points if image reflecting is not a sign of open-mindedness.

Firstly, I think that the law is not practical and cannot be upheld. "The bat's surface shall be non-reflecting." What is meant by reflecting? I know of two types of reflection. Objects can reflect images as a mirror does or they can reflect light like a light shade. If image reflecting is what the rule means reversed sandwich bats are not illegal for you cannot see your face in the newest of Japanese reversed sandwich rubbers.

If light reflecting is what is meant it cannot be denied that the rubber reflects light; but is it not a fact that all objects reflect light unless they are invisible? Logically then "light reflecting" cannot be meant or all bats would be illegal. Therefore, as the surface of reversed sandwich is not "image reflecting" it can be used.

Of course I am not the first to think on these lines. The I.T.T.F. have changed their Equipment and Rules Committee to prepare a regulation that shall more clearly define the existing prohibitions of bats surfaces for 1963-64. They realise that the present rule is not practical and cannot be upheld. Fortunately, the officials, who make up their own interpretations of the law and insist on players playing the game their way, are the tiniest minority.

My second defence is simply—What difference does it make? I assume that the rule was made to prevent bats having mirror surfaces which could reflect the lights above the table into the eyes of the opponent and dazzle him. When the ball was near them such bats might also have made the opponent see both the ball and its reflection, which would have been disconcerting.

OBJECTION IS STROKES NOT REFLECTION

I have not yet met a player who has been worried by any form of reflection from a reversed sandwich bat. Of course, some players do object to the "reverse" bat but not because of reflection. They don't like the strokes possible with this surface, particularly the loop drive. Some players, who cannot use or return the loop drive effectively, would like to have it banned.

Such players cannot get the stroke banned but some officials are giving these players a chance to achieve their aim by preventing the use of the best tool for producing the loop drive for a completely different reason.

To sum up I know that this bat's surface is not illegal and that the extent of its reflection in itself worries nobody. Lastly, I request that in fairness players and officials must treat the problem of reflection and the problem of the loop drive separately. Let us not ban a bat surface because some players cannot play against the loop drive.

Compulsory Purchase

As much as I appreciate the stirring work your circulation manager has put in to boost the sale of Table Tennis, for my part I was sorry to learn that two leagues now insist on compulsory purchase of this magazine as a condition of entry.

I feel that the annual subscription for clubs entering leagues should be kept as low as possible, comprising E.T.T.A. and county affiliation fees, player's registration fees, plus reasonable expenses necessary for the running of a table tennis league.

An extra ten shillings a year may mean very little to the wealthier clubs, but I am sure there are many smaller clubs less fortunately placed financially that would have to think very hard before entering a league should this additional subscription be insisted upon.

A few years ago I had a hand in the forming of a table tennis league. Even then, several clubs which at first seemed keen to take part, suddenly disappeared when affiliation fees were mentioned.

TWO SUGGESTIONS

I would, however, like to put forward two suggestions which I consider would help in obtaining fresh followers to the sport, thus leading to increased sales of magazines.

Firstly, I would like to suggest the publication, through the auspices of your magazine, of a Table Tennis Annual. Following the lines of other sporting annuals, this would include highlights of the previous season's matches, portraits of personalities and leading players, county news, articles on the sport, forthcoming important fixtures dates, etc. The publication date of such an annual would naturally be well before the season's start, the main point being that it would be available to the public at large by being on sale at bookstalls all over the country, instead of to subscribers only.

Secondly, I would like to suggest that other sporting associations take advantage of "What's on in London" to advertise their fixtures. I find it somewhat ironic and perplexing to see St. Brides and Bishopsgate, advertising their playing facilities in this useful weekly journal, yet no mention at all is made of any important table tennis matches in London or the Home Counties!

STARTED 1930 . . .
STILL GOING STRONG

At the Hove club one September evening in 1959 a comment was made: “It looks as if Bert has had it.” Veteran Bert Fretwell, renowned for his attacking backhand, had hardly been able to get the ball on the table all night long.

The speaker was wrong. Within ten days Bert had changed from the pimpled rubber to sandwich bat and had demolished leading Sussex players, including international Peter Shead, in the annual Champions v The Rest inter-league match. It was a typical fight back from the modest veteran.

Bert’s long career started in 1940 at the Brighton Conservative club and he soon started to trouble the leading players. He has represented Brighton on many occasions and has reached the final of the Sussex “closed” four times. But it was a doubles player that he really shone.

In partnership with his great rival, international Charlie Seaman, Bert won the Sussex “closed” men’s doubles for 15 years. He also took the “mixed” once.

In 1937 and 1946 Bert played in final English Trials, which indicates he may well have reached the greatest heights had not the war intervened.

Despite Hitler, Fretwell found time to represent the Army against Egypt and won the Cairo Area Singles. He also took the Greek Invitation title and won the doubles, with Harry Rosen, in the Mediterranean “Open.”

After the war Fretwell became a pillar of strength in the local game. His representation of Sussex from 1946 to 1951 without a break, being a member of the team which won the Southern Division. He also found time to play an open match for Surrey at an earlier date.

Although Fretwell has not played for Sussex since 1951, he still remains a active in the flesh for several of the county’s leading players.

Bert has found time to help other players and carries out several coaching engagements. His flair for administrative work has found him taking on many posts of the committees of two local leagues and the county. He has been Brighton’s chairman since 1956.

He has always believed that the average player does not give enough to the game and would like to see them prepared to give more time and money for the sports well being.

Bert, three times Worthing singles champion, still finds time to play in three leagues. He was still good enough to win the men’s doubles in both the Sussex and Brighton “Closed” tournaments last season.

Retire! Bert aims to increase his record of 11 Brighton First Division Team championships medals. In ten years time I shall still be needing all the edges and nets I can get to beat him. In ten year’s time Brighton will need him more than ever.

Table Tennis Tomorrow
by TEDDY GRANT

For those who have been engaged in this fascinating sport for a considerable number of years the advent of a new season must always become a joy and thrill.

I often wonder at the mysterious power which compels us to continue to spread the gospel of table tennis by keeping alive locally and nationally an indoor recreational activity in which today almost every country competes for world honours.

Introduced internationally several decades ago by the English Table Tennis Association, it is strange and perhaps, appropriate that a mighty eastern power has now adopted table tennis as its national game.

Let us never forget the peaceful purposes of the little white ball!

I am sure when respective nationalities face each other at table tennis, there is not the fear and uneasiness prevailing so often experienced at the conference table.

Fitness a Dedication

While table tennis is increasing rapidly in those far eastern lands to whom fitness of body becomes a dedication, the participation of vigorous exercise which for the young is one sure way to fitness, is declining in Britain and the United States and table tennis generally is not recruiting nearly enough players.

Unfortunately, although the time allocated to physical education in schools has increased, large numbers of our young folk are conditional to the long car ride at week-ends and inactive late hours before the TV set during the week.

From America come warnings by its military department of the poor shape of its recent recruits and from Britain’s medical men that less exercise in youth is a certain way to a shorter life.

I do not advocate that table tennis played correctly will make every player AI, but having derived immense enjoyment and amazingly good health over thirty years of play, I am naturally concerned with table tennis tomorrow.

Greatest Contribution

Perhaps the greatest contribution any coach can offer to the game apart from basic knowledge is enthusiasm, the magic word which makes us tick and induces others to follow. Never has opportunity been greater and youth so eager to receive the Message; that skill with a small racket controlling an even smaller light elusive ball in a restricted area nine feet by five feet, is effective mental and physical training for the high tension of modern life.

Let us therefore enter another season shining with enthusiasm to preserve table tennis for tomorrow in the land of its birth.
An Exciting Month for Symonds

PRETTY little Karenza Smith, from Clapton, East London, is an 11-year-old with ambitions—to play table tennis for England.

Those days may be a long way off, but Karenza, the latest in the long list of budding champions being produced by Essex, has already started on the road that could lead to such a dream being realised.

Despite her tender years she is already ranked No. 7 among the Essex junior girls, and she received a runners-up award in the News of the World “Girl of the Year” tournament.

Karenza, pictured here being coached by Bertie Kerr, the Scottish international, at Butlins, Clacton, has been a member of the Albion Club, Bethnal Green, for the past 18 months, for ten of which she was coached by Michael Close.

Last season she had the distinction of being the youngest player ever to represent the East London League at senior singles success.

Karenza has a promising future ahead of her with nearly six years of junior play in which to build up the experience.

ENGLAND BADGE AND RANKING

OCTOBER has been an exciting month for last year’s junior star, Mike Symonds, of Lancashire, Selection for the first of the season’s training sessions organised by the E.T.T.A. was followed by his debut for England against Sweden at Nottingham, and a few days later he was picked for the Dutch championships along with Diane Rowe, Mary Shannon and Ian Harrison. Then to cap it all he was included in the new Senior ranking list at No. 8.

Unfortunately, the international was not a story book start for he lost both games, but he made up for this in the Dutch Open, where he just failed to reach the quarter-finals, losing 22-20 in the fifth game to the German, Berger.

David Creamer (Middlesex) is another teenager making the news. Promoted from No. 11 to No. 3 in national ranking, David made his debut against Sweden at Norwich. And what a debut. Playing brilliantly he completely demoralised the new Swedish star, 21-year-old Stefan Bengston, to give England a 1-0 lead.

Unfortunately England won only one of the next six games and were beaten 5-2.

Lesley and Chester
March on

David is now in the wilds of Africa, coaching and playing exhibitions with Victor Barna.

For the third time in as many tournaments, the junior singles at the North of England were won by Lesley Bell and Chester Barnes. Chester also competed in the Portsmouth Open, where he annexed the men’s singles and doubles titles, apart from the usual junior singles. This was his first senior singles success.

It will be interesting to see just how long Lesley’s and Chester’s run of junior tournament wins will last. Lesley has so far won three out of three and Chester four out of four.

On current form they both appear way ahead on any other juniors and it will be one of the biggest shocks for a long time if they are not ranked No. 1 boy and girl after the junior trials.

Wembley and Harrow, winners of the Middlesex Junior Inter-League championship for the past two years are starting an extensive junior coaching programme on November 10. Some 40 players, ages ranging from 12 to 18 years, will be attending under the direction of E.T.T.A. coach Michael Close.

Congratulations to Wembley for introducing this scheme. It is a great idea which should benefit the game as a whole. I wonder if there are any schemes like this in other leagues?

High Ranking for Alma

The surprise of the new national rankings is the high placing of Alma Taft at No. 4. Alma, who is 19, originates from St. Albans (Herts) but has been in the national coaohing programme on November 10. Some 40 players, ages ranging from 12 to 18 years, will be attending under the direction of E.T.T.A. coach Michael Close.

During last summer she practised quite hard at Wembley Institute, and her game is now much steadier.

Runner-up to Lesley Bell in the East of England and Essex tournaments, Alma made it third time lucky by winning the North of England title.

Miss Bell surprisingly fell to the little known Mrs. Starkie (Yorkshire), and Alma took her chance. She beat Mrs. Starkie in a later round, then beat Lesley Proudlock, last year’s “News of the World” winner, in the final.

It was her first senior title, after being losing finalist on no less than seven previous occasions.

Alma is working as a statistical cartographer in advertising, which, for the uninitiated, is the preparing of art layouts for market research.

Her big ambition is to represent England in the Corbillon Cup and her new ranking brings her within striking distance of that aim.
The Pick of Twenty-five Thousand

BONUS POINTS DECIDE WINNERS

All the runners-up, with the exception of Jackie Canham and Dennis Neale, are young enough to bid for honours again next season.

The youngest pupil was eight-year-old Carole Hopkins, of St. Helen's, Lancs., who gained the distinction by just a few months from nine-year-old Hadyn Thomas, of Abergavenny. Both showed remarkable skill for their tender years and were more than capable of holding their own against much older players.

They created such a big impression that each was rewarded by a special prize to mark the occasion.

The scheme is doing so much to discover new talent and introduce the game to youngsters who might otherwise be lost. The emphasis is on coaching and not competitive play, although the entrants get plenty of that.

Charts of the full assessment of each competitor at the festival week have been drawn up and the county of each pupil is shown, so that the county associations can follow up these discoveries and take over further coaching as they may think fit.

Apart from the actual coaching scheme there is also the "Coach and Pupil" tournament, in which the coaches choose a pupil from the opposite sex and play off against the other pupils on the American tournament system of each playing each other once.
SHOCK DEFEAT FOR LESLEY BELL

By GEORGE R. YATES

BIGGER than ever was this season's entry for the North of England Open staged by the Manchester League at the Seymour Grove Drill Hall on October 11-13. And bigger than ever was the shock occasioned by Lesley Bell's defeat at the hands of Yorkshire's Mrs. Eileen Starkie, who triumphed 11-21, 21-16, 24-22 in the quarters of the women's singles.

Hardly surprising, therefore, was the inevitable reaction that set in for the penultimate stage encounter with a grimly determined Alma Taft, whose resolute countenance brooked no interference from the still flushed blonde warrior from Barnsley.

Sickness prevented Pam Mortimer from occupying second seed position in whose stead Lesley Proudloud came through with steady victories over Linda Gordon, Cynthia Blackshaw and Dorothy Dleley (née Worrall).

A see-saw final gave Miss Taft the edge if only by virtue of her greater steadiness at the vital stages.

Men's singles title holder Jack Clayton, admittedly drawn in a tough quarter, was out to show what he thought of the Lancashire county selectors in ranking him no higher than No. 4. Matt Sheadder, Connie Warren and Oxford's E. Lloyd lay behind Clayton when Birmingham junior Keith Jones cut the ground from beneath his feet.

Jones disposed of Ralph Gunnion, too, at 19 in the third, but Derek Schofield stopped his gallop in the semis as he had that of Chester Barnes, albeit 23-21 in a tense second game in the quarters.

No. 2 seed Derek Baddeley had gone under to Barnes 16 and 9 but little had stood in the path of Schofield's progress up to his meeting with the Essex starlet.

Jack Ingber, too, shed nary a game except to Ray Hinchliff accounting for David Backhouse in two straight.

It was not expected that David Stanley would go out to Tony Robinson in the boys' event but out he went 19 and 14. Dennis Holland then ousted Robinson but token resistance was all the Gloucestershire youth could muster against Barnes in the final. Similarly Lesley Bell took with ease the girls' title, despite resistance from Jackie Canham at the last hurdle.

Putting the result to the point, the Lancashire starlet had earlier impressed with wins over Ron Allcock, Scotland's new hope Jimmy Dow, Maurice Simpson and Bobby Raybould, the latter having cut down to size Brian Hill and Maurice Billington.

So the No. 1 antagonists from Lancashire and Cheshire came up for the final where Inger proved altogether too purposeful for Schofield.

The best set of all was that in which the Forshaw/Crusham lethal combination whipped the men's doubles from Laurie Landry and Gunnion. Whipped was the word for how the Manchester boys belted in for that decisive third.

Lancashire's dominance of the senior events was again in evidence when Diane Fitzgerald and Connie Moore heaped further stress on the young shoulders of Miss Bell partnered by Miss Taft to take the women's doubles. Again in the mixed it was the home county all the way, Allcock and Miss Moore getting much the better of a spent Forshaw partnering Winnie Swift.

THE county championship season has at Harlem on October 20-21.

Encouraging Birmingham Performances

The county championship season has started with a bang for Warwickshire. Our first team, after losing heavily (8-1) to Middlesex at Leamington, realized themselves by beating Gloucestershire 6-3 at Nuneaton.

Both matches were excellently staged by the respective towns organizations, with packed houses for both matches. Ralph Gunston was outstanding and only David Creamer was able to cope with his fast all round game. Maurice Billington also played well and is at last showing some of the promise of his England junior days.

His win over Roy Morley in the Gloucestershire match provided the kind of table tennis that will bring back the crowds.

The "seconds" starred well in the higher (Second Midland) with an 8-2 win over Worcestershire. But they lost 1-9 to Glamorgan, Bill Gallagher providing the only win.

The junior look like having another game average age battle after drawing with their great rivals from Gloucestershire.

Early Exit

Ian Harrison made an early exit when he came up against the Swedish junior Carl Johan Bernhardt in the second round and was beaten 21-19, 9-21, 22-24, 27-29, a tight match.

It appears that the tall, young, fast hitting Swede, had learned well from his meetings with Harrison in the Swedish tour of England.

Mike Symonds, in his first overseas championship, played well to reach the third round of the men's singles, where he lost to Berger after an advantage fifth game. It was a good effort, for Berger is a widely experienced player.

Harrison and Symonds surprisingly went down to the Dutch pair Hummel and Wijnhoud in the men's doubles, while both our partnerships were eliminated in the quarter finals of the mixed doubles, Harrison and Rowe losing to Berger and Kriegelstein, of Germany, and Symonds and Shannon to Vecko and Pyrc of Yugoslavia.

Also, the European championship was beaten by Vecko in the quarter finals of the men's singles, which were won by Gomolla.

Results

Men's Singles: Semi-Finals: Gomolla (Germany) bt Gab (Germany), Vecko (Yugoslavia) bt Johansson (Sweden).

Women's Singles: Semi-Finals: Simon (Germany) bt Pyrc (Yugoslavia), Rowe (England) bt Gomolla (Germany).

Men's Doubles: Finals: BEYSS/GABB (Germany) bt Vecko/Kern (Yugoslavia).

Women's Doubles Final: ROWE/ShANNON (England) bt Simon/Gomolla (Germany).

"A Telly for a Tanner"

As work forges ahead with the building of the L.C.C. two-million pounds Crystal Palace Sports Centre, due to open with the European Table Tennis Championships of 1964, an appeals committee moves into action to raise the necessary funds for the organisation.

Players from some 30 nations are expected to take part, and despite the sponsorship of Messrs. Gallaher Ltd., makers of Senior Service cigarettes, there will be a heavy strain on finances.

Mrs. L. R. Phillips (50 THE RIDGEWAY, LONDON, N.W.11. TELEPHONE SPEEDWELL 4047) has taken over as appeals organiser and between now and April 1964 will introduce several money-raising schemes.

The first of these is a country-wide draw for an Ultra 21-inch television set, and is already under way. Tickets are sixpence each and there are 24 in a book, for which the seller need return ten shillings only. The closing date is December 15, 1962.

PROMOTION FOR BARNES

CHESTER BARNES, the 15-year-old Essex junior, captured his first senior singles title in the Portsmouth Open on October 21. Following a straight games semi-final win over H. Collins, he beat Terry Densham, the former international, in the final, also in straight games.

Then for good measure Barnes went on to win the men's doubles with R. Henderson, and the junior mixed singles, in which he beat D. Holman, also without loss of a game.

The women's singles provided a win for Gwen Robinson after a close final with Joan Woodford, the score being 22-20, 22-20, 21-16.

Miss Robinson also won the mixed doubles with Collins, while the women's doubles went to the Southampton twins Christine and Pam Holes.

BABY FOR BETTY

Betty Bird, the former Surrey international, gave birth to a daughter—Deborah Lynn—in September.

It is her second child for she had another daughter, Nicolet Rae, in April, 1961.
THE NATIONAL CUPS

Entries for the Wilmott Cup and Rose Bowl national inter-league team championships show a slight increase over last season. There are 91 for the men's event and 65 for the Rose Bowl.

Manchester, winners for the past five years are defending, and will again be led by Jeff Ingber, England No. 2. There the choice this season may well extend to Mike Symonds, England's newest international.

Sutton, who won the women's title for the first time are also defending and their key player is Mary Shannon, England's joint No. 2.

Among the newcomers from last year for the Wilmott Cup are Whitehaven, Mansfield, Salford, Bolton, Oldbury, Wellington, Kettering, Ipswich, Wisbeach and Plymouth.

Now in England

Livia Mosoczy, the former Hungarian international is now resident in London. She is here with her husband, Laszlo Banhegyi, the Hunga­rain basketball international who is a representative of the Hungarian airline Malev.

Livia has already made herself known at the Putney International club. Let's hope we shall soon see her in the open tournament circuit.

Envious Headquarters

The Lensbury and Britanic House Club, which commenced activities in 1935, is no more. It has dissolved to be replaced by a new club, Lensbury, which has its headquarters at the new Shell Centre in London.

If playing conditions can be taken as a guide the new club should quickly make its mark. Five tables will be available on three evenings a week, and there is at least 14 feet run back with nine feet between each table. Each court will be partially divided and there are five lights over each table.

SUNDERLAND VISIT TO BERGEN

On September 24, 1962, a team representing the Sunderland and District Table Tennis Association sailed on the "Leda" en route for Bergen, a Trade Fair "Gateway to Britain Week" being held there, and many sports and cultural events were being staged.

On arrival the party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Reay, E. Taylor, D. Gillon, K. Taylor, C. Eltringham and E. Cansfield, were met by Mr. Finn Schonberg, President of the Bergen Association, and the Chairman, Mr. Cjell Swernivick.

An Invitation Tournament was also arranged, twenty players took part, the outstanding game was in the semi-final between Knute Havag, the holder of the Norwegian Singles Championship for the past three years, and the former champion, K. Hernes. Havag won three games to two in one of the best matches I have seen for a considerable time. In the final Knute Havag gained his revenge over Eddie Taylor winning in three straight games 24, 22, 21-13, 21-15.

This was a most memorable visit, our thanks are due to Cjell Swernivick, Yan Anderson and Oystein Rodseth, who acted as guides to our party during our stay, and to the Bergen Association who were wonderful hosts. The Sunderland party were loathe to leave, the prospect of a Force 8 gale to face over the North Sea did not help, everyone had enjoyed their visit so much, and look forward to renewing acquaintances some time in the future.

LOSING RETURN FOR ESSEX and CHERSHIRE

ESSEX and Cheshire, the two promoted teams, made a losing start on their return to the Premier Division. Essex lost 5-4 to Surrey, while Cheshire were crushed 8-1 at Gloucestershire.

Essex were unfortunate in that they were without Bobby Stevens, who broke a nose playing cricket. His absence undoubtedly cost them the match, which developed into a thrilling finish with everything depending on the last rubber, in which Tony Miller beat Brian Bruinwell.

Miller had previously lost to Chester Barnes, the junior who proved the best of the Essex men. Surrey introduced two newcomers in Vic Ireland and Jimmy Moore, and both played their part in the Surrey win. Both beat Raybould, while Moore just got the edge over young Barnes at 17 in the third, in what was the best match of the tie.

The much-awaited clash between Mary Shannon and Lesley Bell, England's respective No. 2 and No. 3, was disappointing—except from an Essex angle—Lesley winning so easily.

Raybould salvaged some consolation from his singles defeats when he won the mixed doubles with Miss Bell.

With Stevens back in the side, Essex looked a completely different side than when they crushed Kent 9-1 earlier in the month. It was good to see the Raybould-Stevens combination playing in top gear again.

Doreen Schofield was the lone Cheshire winner in their match with Gloucestershire, who included both Ian Harrison and Bryan Merrett.

Merrett, with his dour defensive play, was once again involved in the time limit when he beat Walmsley 18-15, 6-5.

Middlesex, the champions, got away to their usual flying start with an 8-1 win over Warwickshire, whose lone success was scored by Ralph Gunnion when he beat Alan Rhodes at 24-22 in the third.

Cornwall would be a good “banker” in any draws pool for with a 5-3 score against Wiltshire in Second Division (West) they have now shared the points in the last four matches they have played.

This was a memorable occasion for 18-year-old Bill Hocking, occupying the No. 2 spot. Using a loop top spin drive he broke up the strong defensive game of both A. Ward and A. Wolf and followed with some fine hitting down both wings.

John Bassett carried on as he left off last season by winning both singles, though he was fully extended by Ward and the hard-hitting Alexander.

This is the first time for many years that Cornwall have won four men’s singles.

Possibly the most vital set was the mixed doubles where Bassett and Miss Hazell 19-11 in the third, dropped nine points in a row and eventually lost 21-23.

Big Surprise

P. Ofield was the only unbeaten player when helping Devon to a 7-3 win over Somerset. The big surprise was the defeat of the Devon pair Joan Crosby and Doreen Spooner by Mrs. Pickett and Miss Bonner.

Glamorgan were too strong for Bedfordshire in the Second Division (Midland) and won 9-1. Norman Parker gave Bedford a good start against his former colleagues when he beat Bernard Dimascio in the opening set, but after that Bedford were given no chance. Paul Racey took a game off Alan Thomas but Chris Crowe lost in straight games to both Dimascio and George Evans.

Monmouthshire were harshly treated at their first appearance in the county championships for they were crushed 10-0 by Staffordshire.

Worcester crashed rather unexpectedly at 2-8 to Warwickshire.

In the Southern Division, Norfolk went down 3-7 to Buckinghamshire for whom brother and sister Leslie and Joan Wooding were most impressive. Norfolk sadly missed Betty Cassell who was ill. Miss Baker, coming in at the last minute for Miss Turner, who was also absent, fought nobly. There were some good fighting games in the men’s singles.

Essex had a shock when they visited Bedfordshire for included in their opponents ranks were Derek Grant (former Hampshire and England junior international) and Barbara...
Hertfordshire were pleased with their new venue at the L.C.I. Canteen, Stevenage, for the Junior Division (East) clash with Essex, but went down 3-7.

The Surrey-Hampshire Junior (South) encounter was a poor affair, with all matches being too one-sided. One of the best prospects was Hampshire's Andrews, a good little penholder. David Mann and Stuart Shannon made their county debut in Suffolk's 10-0 win over Cambridge in the Junior (East) Division. It was the first time that Suffolk juniors have recorded a 10-0 win.

Hertfordshire juniors just had the edge in an interesting encounter with Middlesex, winning 6-4. Spencer, making his first appearance for Middlesex, lost 20-22, 20-22 to Clary after serving a fault when leading 20-19 in the first game, and failing to hold a 15-10 lead in the second.

TOP MARKS J ACK!

At long last the Scottish T. T. A. has the money to start coaching.
This was announced by the president Mr. Jack Hillan at a meeting a few weeks ago. A grant has enabled the hard working executive to lay down a scheme which would have been impossible even last season owing to the drastic shortage of capital.

SCOTTISH PERSONALITY

JOHN REILLY

Six feet tall, 15 years of age, is the formula for the success of the probable No. 1 Scottish junior this season—John Reilly.

John was a finalist in the Eagle Tournament last season and lost to England’s Chester Barnes.

He plays for Pressed Steel in the West of Scotland Second Division and has an average of 86 per cent., losing only five games all season. He has only been playing for 2½ years and although he concentrates on lawn tennis in the summer months (he won the North Wales Open Junior Lawn Tennis Championships this summer) he is already making his mark on the T. T. scene in this country.

On asking John his plans for the coming season I was told that he would be all out to bring all the junior trophies home to Glasgow. His plans to attend all the tournaments and rates Willie Gibb of Edinburgh (another Eagle Finalist) his main rival.

After a season of waiting in the shadow of James Dow (now a senior) Reilly should take his chance and instead of being a regular semi-finalist be a regular winner.

HANTS. EXTEND COACHING

An extension of coaching activities throughout Hampshire should be the outcome of a special coaches’ course held at the Southampton T. T. A. and Schools’ coaching centre at Mount Pleasant School, Southampton, on September 29-30.

Conducted by Jack Carrington, the E.T.T.A. national coach, it was attended by 26 coaches from Aldershot, Basingstoke, Bournemouth, the Isle of Wight, Portsmouth, and Southampton. Pupils from local secondary schools formed the basis of instruction.

Southampton continue to go forward with their school-leavers’ courses, and a third course, under the supervision of T. W. Grant, the local coaching officer, got under way in October. It has 54 pupils from 11 secondary modern schools, who receive instruction at two-hourly sessions three times a week over a period of eight weeks.

HAMPSHIRE HAPPENINGS

By L E S L I E B A R R Y

Driven by lack of support from their old premises, this season Casa d’Italia will play as the International T. T. C. They will operate from Sikorski’s premises.

It is notable that the only women’s team in the West is run under the auspices of International T. T. C. by Mrs. Marie Anton.

Since the days when there used to be divisions of women players the West has gradually lost ground until there is only one team left. Let’s have more women’s teams! Well done, “Casa.”

Springhill R. S. A. join the first division this season with young players George Anderson, Billy Livingstone and Charlie McNulty and the experienced services of Alec McAlpine. Mr. John Hannah, who is behind this successful club, expects that both teams will do well this season. Last season both teams won their respective divisions and gained promotion.

GLASGOW SATURDAY MORNING LEAGUE V. DUNDEE HECKLERS T. T. CLUB

On Sunday, October 7th an A. and B. team from both sides thrilled spectators with a fine display of sportsmanship and ability. The teams were Glasgow: Hawkins, Gilroy, Sutherland, Scott, Groat, Kerr, Dundee: Marjory Murray, Wilma Nixon, I. McIntosh, D. McIntosh.

One spectator commented that he had never seen so much potential star material and I heartily agreed. Miss Bessie Dunbar must be very proud of her brilliant pupils. These boys and girls at the age of ten can enter senior tournaments and beat senior players.

While handing bouquets to the coaches I must mention that although this match was well publicised, only a handful of spectators turned up and the youngsters were disappointed at the lack of interest.

The tense matches ended satisfactorily with each side winning one match and over a very hearty tea a return match was fixed.

SUFFOLK PLAYERS OVERSHADOWED

MRS. PAM ROGERS was the only Suffolk player to figure among the winners of the Ipswich Open Tournament on September 20. She shared the women's doubles with Mrs. T. MEAKINS of Essex, and the mixed doubles with Colin Crowe, of Bedfordshire. The remainder of the local players were somewhat overshadowed.

A early disappointment was the decisive defeat of David Halliday by Leslie Wooding of Buckinghamshire, who was in turn beaten in the semi-final by the ultimate winner, Bedfordshire's Paul Racey. Crowe's singles was also a disappointment, the judges scoring 21-12 to Mrs. Racey; but it was Colin Crowe who had led 19-16 in the third before going down to Mrs. Racey and Mrs. Knowles. Colin Crowe won a second title in the men's doubles with Racey, who had beaten him in the singles final.

Men's Singles Semi-Finals: C. Crowe (Beds.) bt M. Parker (Beds.) 21-19, 17-21, 21-16. P. Racey (Beds.) bt L. Wooding (Bucks.) 21-10, 12-21, 21-17.

Women's Doubles: Semi-Finals: Mrs. Racey bt J. Wooding (Beds.) 21-12, 21-14, Junior Singles: A. COBY (Norfolk) bt J. Wooding (Beds.) 21-10, 21-12.

Men's Doubles: CROWE/RACEY bt C. Crowe (Norfolk) 21-17, 21-11.

Final: CROWE/Mrs. ROGERS bt D. Halliday/Mrs. BROWN (Suffolk) 21-7, 19-21, 21-15.

NEW NORFOLK PRESIDENT

NORFOLK start the season with a new President to succeed Mrs. Betty Cassell. He is Mr. J. W. Meadows, the President of Wymondham and District League.

His sons, Peter and Roger, are leading players there. Peter is the Wymondham captain Roger, their men's singles champion. Together, the brothers won last season's men's doubles, and their team, Abbey A, won both the league championship and the President's Cup presented by their father.

Mr. Meadows has played much table tennis, and, from his maiden speech at the Buckinghamshire match at Norwich, it was clear that a new personality had entered the county arena.

Dereham League are proposing a tournament to enter the Senior British, German, France and Luxembourg. Four or five players will tour by car, meeting their own expenses.

Norwich sent a team to Leeuwarden, Holland some 12 or 14 years ago, but a four-country tour is unique! This prompts me to ask when will Norwich visit their twin town, Rouen, with whom we must however, record that our Norwich Secretary, the doughty Harold Betts, enters this season on his 23rd year of office. Congratulations!

In their first county match, Norfolk lost to Bucks. 3-7, and it was three Bucks junors, Les Wooding, their sister Joan, and Joy Dalton, who caught our eye. Norfolk were without Betty Cassell.

Beryl Baker, winner of the Police Association's All-England Championship (Women's Singles) in 1950, deputised at the last moment, Norfolk have only one other home fixture this season, v Berkshire, at Wymondham on December 8.

EXTRA DIVISION FOR CAMBS. LEAGUE

CAMBRIDGESHIRE League have formed another division, making seven altogether, following an entry of 67 teams this season. League play is Y.M.C.A. with eight teams, mostly composed of the younger generation. Their first team must hold a good chance of again annexing the First Division title.

The county trials at Cambridge in October produced some top names. The county championship remains unchanged from last season with John Cornwall, John Thorsen, Keith Chapman, Beryl Selley and Mrs. Rouse.

There was much deliberation over the team for the Suffolk Open, and before Reg Dean, John Laker, Albert Jackson and John Constable were finally selected.

The women's team for the South Midland League is Carol Chapman, Ruth Buttle and Sandra Grainger. Miss Grainger is a newcomer.

The Junior team which meets Middlesex on November 19 is Alan Founder, Denis Collinson, Paul Chisnall, Ruth Buttle, and Carol Chapman.

Many young players are taking advantage of the weekly coaching sessions at the Y.M.C.A. and Chesterton Institute. Maurice Belsford, the popular Cambridge League player who has been ill, is now fit once again.

CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIPS

MARINKO REACHES OPEN FINAL AND WINS CLOSED

MAX MARINKO, the former Czech Swaythling Cup star, showed his best form since 1957 in the Canadian Championships in Toronto on September 1. He won his eighth Canadian closed title, and also reached the final of the "open" with the loss of only one game.

Marinko, who lives in Chicago, has trouble everyone until the "open" final, where Erwin Klein, the 1961 United States champion, used his drives and top spin to prevent the Canadian taking the attack. Even so, Marinko won the opening game before the younger Klein got his full measure.

In taking his fourth "open" title back to Chicago, Klein, a former world's mixed doubles champion, opened the way for an American domination of the Canadian titles. They won eight of the nine titles the exception being the girls' singles, won by Helen Suhailiukas.

The big shocks of the men's singles were the defeats of defending champion Robert Fields by little known Richard Hicks, and of fourth "seed" Sol Schiff by Canada's Nick Gadanyi. Both Gadanyi, in the quarter-finals, and Hicks, in the semi-final, were to fall victims to Marinko.

One of the best matches was in the second round when U.S. junior Ralph Childs took Klein to five games with his crisp all-out hitting. Childs is only 14.

Another top early match found Irish star Pete Kelly force Fields to five games.

Canada had plenty to cheer in the women's singles, when Jenny Marinko, Max's wife, beat defending champion Leah Neuberger in three straight games, only to fall to the powerful attack of Lona Flam Rubenstein, a New Yorker making a comeback after being a member of the 1956 U.S. World team. Style troubles troubled Rubenstein went on to the title after a five-games final with Barbara Chaimson Kaminsky.

JUNIOR CHAMPION

U.S. junior champion Danny Pecora carried all before him in the junior men's singles, where Raouf Kaminsky, an Egyptian living in America while his father works at the United Nations, provided some fine play in stopping Chinese pen-holder Larry Lee, a member of Canada's junior international squad.

In the International team matches the American Swaythling Cup hopefuls, Robert Fields, Erwin Klein, Bernard Bukiet and Sol Schiff, had no trouble in smashing through a Canadian squad that lacked Marinko.

Many of the matches were played under the I.T.T.F. version of the "Expedite Rule", which the American entries found to be far less effective than the current U.S.A. method of applying it at the discretion of the chief referee.

Mr. Neuberger gained some revenge in the team play for women when she beat Mrs. Marinko in two straight games to pave the way for America's 6-1 victory.

In the Canadian Closed championships Harry Grossman showed the benefits of a recent stay in England, as he hit his way to the men's singles finals, where Marinko was too strong.

Mrs. Marinko made a big effort to make the singles a family affair and reached the final only to fall to Velta Adminis.

Defending champion Denise Hu­nius lost her title when she went down in straight game to Joan Jessop, while the former Irish champion Joy Owens was beaten in the semi-final by Miss Adminis.
GRAND RE-UNION AT N. of E.

IN the provincial hinterland one feels that life really only tends to properly get under way when the curtain rises on the North of England Open for, like migratory birds, the flock returns to familiar surroundings.

So it was on October 13 for just inside the entrance sat, as though unmoved from twelve months back, the custodian of Manchester’s purse strings, Wilkinson Marsden, awaiting the return of the migrants. Born 1882, “Pop” celebrated his 80th birthday in July and is now in his 29th season as Manchester League Treasurer—never having held a bat in anger!

Beyond the “pay-shy” barrier was to be found another old friend in G. Harry Jones, founder member and ex-chairman of the Manchester and District League, present Hon. Sec. of the Fallowfield Club which boasts the largest membership of the city’s member clubs.

Harry has again completed a registration form for his 36th consecutive season to claim the “long player” record and is still enjoying life albeit now in lower grade pax.

Busy marking up the wall charts was President Jack Livingstone, smiling benignly on all as he conveyed a welcome to Manchester.

No less amiable was chairman Leslie Cohen in charge of the floor staff foremost of which body being Benny Casofsky who, when stoked momentarily with self-exiled Ken Stanley revived memories of a once formidable doubles pairing.

Up on control the eagle eye of Secretary/Referee Leslie Jones flanked by Mrs. Marshall on the charts and Harold Johnson on the mike making up a trio bent on pulling the strings of the kaleidoscopic scene beneath them.

Double Sortie

All indeed was well with Manchester, as indeed with the county, for hadn’t Lancashire drawn it across the Tykes the previous weekend? A double sortie over the Pennines netted a bag of four points to vie well with P.M. Macmillan’s grousing expeditions on those same bleak expanses of moorland the red rose parties had independently crossed.

Freshly entered in Division 2 (North), the second senior string cracked off with a 7-3 win over Yorkshire lads at Sheffield, the juniors 5-3 winners at Doncaster. This was a piratical rip riot, little wonder then the ready smile on the countenance of Norman Cook, but yet, was not it tempered by the almost complete eclipse of Cheshire’s two county sides, the seniors 8-1 in the West Country, the juniors sunk without trace in the “broad acres.”

Perhaps fortunate in having a double allegiance “Cookie” has another door to open as one closes, but sadly, Cheshire’s door is very much on a creaking hinge—never more so in evidence than when exposed to the all out gales of the premier division.
