Dear Colleagues

Select Committee on the Constitution

As you know Alan Ransome (Cleveland) recently proposed the establishment of a select committee on the constitution. I have now consulted MAG, who raised no objections, and National Councillors. Eleven NCs supported the proposal and three were against. As a result I have approved it.

The Committee will work in accordance with the protocol approved at the January 2021 Council.

Paul Stimpson has now kindly set up a new section for select committees on the National Council part of the website. The membership and terms of reference of the Disability Select Committee have already been posted there and when the membership of the Constitution Select Committee have been finalised I will ask Paul to post that as well.

I have invited Alan to explain briefly what he envisages the Committee will cover at the April 2021 Council meeting.

I should add that (although the Committee can start work as soon as it is ready) it is possible for Council to reverse a decision to establish a select committee. However given that the majority of those who responded supported the establishment of the Committee and agreed that Alan should chair it this is unlikely.

With best wishes
Estyn
